Experience

   I am currently pursuing a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, now in my 7th semester, while also gaining practical experience as a Web Developer intern at DevelopersHub Corporation.
 My role as an intern involves developing and maintaining
- web applications,
- collaborating with cross-functional teams
- optimizing front-end.

This experience has allowed me to strengthen my skills in
- HTML
- CSS
- JavaScript

while also becoming proficient with version control tools like Git.
 My academic journey has provided a solid foundation in subjects such as
- advanced web development

Through both my coursework and internship, I am building a strong portfolio of projects that reflect my growing expertise in web development.
